Samuel Campiche works as a senior associate in the Lausanne office of Walder Wyss. He advises and represents private and institutional clients before courts in various civil and administrative proceedings. His practice includes, in particular, all matters relating to land use planning.

Samuel Campiche studied at the University of Fribourg, where he obtained a bilingual French-German Bachelor of Law (MLaw, 2013) and a Master of Law (MLaw, 2015, magna cum laude), during which he completed a semester at the Center for Transnational Legal Studies (CTLIS) at the King's College, in London.

He worked as an intern at the Federal Department of Foreign Affairs (FDFA) at the Swiss embassy in Dublin (Ireland), and as a trainee clerk at the Cantonal Court of Fribourg, working with the administrative courts.

Samuel Campiche then completed his lawyer traineeship at a law firm in Lausanne and was admitted to the bar in June 2020.

He gained experience by joining the legal team of a large company, before practising for several years as a lawyer, working as an associate at a law firm in Lausanne, before joining Walder Wyss in 2026.

Samuel Campiche works in French and English. He also speaks German.
